About the event

EWEC is the "Annual General Meeting" for the international wind sector, bringing together thousands of industry professionals for 4 days of intensive networking, new business development and information exchange. It is the only event that covers every key aspect of the wind industry, with the world's leading experts in industry, policy, technology, science and business.

You can be confident to hear about the very latest developments and meet the leading figures from the wind and electricity industries.

For authoritative information, networking and exposure on a leading international stage, there is nothing to compare with EWEC.

Conference - visit www.ewec2007.info for more conference information

Over 200 presenters from the leading companies and institutions will speak in 40 separate business, technical and workshop sessions, and there will be over 300 visual presentations and 8 parallel workshops from the world's leading experts. The choice is massive, and you can be sure of two things :

• The latest information

You will be able to keep up to date with all the latest developments in business, policy, science & technology.

• The best networking

You will be able to meet key decision makers and leading figures from the wind and electricity industries.
